

A NEW VIEW OF SOCIETY

The Institute for the Formation of Character, Visitor Attraction Reception

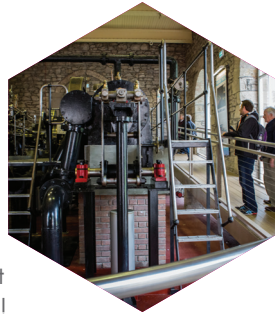

Founded by Robert Owen in 1816 as the social centre of New Lanark, 'The Institute' as it is known, still forms the heart of the New Lanark community. Home to the Visitor Attraction Reception, it also hosts a variety of temporary exhibitions and events.

Originally symmetrical, it was radically altered in 1881 with the addition of an engine house to the west wing.

DON'T MISS!

- The 550HP Petrie Steam Engine
- The light and spacious Gallery Room, still home to concerts, dances weddings and lectures
- The beautiful Doric portico on the entrance - many an important historical figure has set foot here!

A RATIONAL SYSTEM OF EDUCATION

Robert Owen's School for Children

Completed shortly after The Institute in 1817, Robert Owen's School for Children held spacious classrooms and lecture rooms, and was well equipped to provide an interesting and stimulating curriculum. Today the Historic Classroom and Interactive Gallery of Light and Sound still play a part in educating young visitors to the site.

You can also explore the Saving New Lanark Room and view our fascinating films and Virtual Flythrough.

DON'T MISS!

- The 'Shaping the Landscape' exhibition
- Dressing-up in school tunics from Owen's time!
- Our amazing Virtual Flythrough of New Lanark

MILLS, MAZES & ANNIE MCLEOD

Mill 3, Visitor Attraction: Entered through The Institute

Originally one of the 4 mills dedicated to spinning cotton, Mill 3 now forms the main part of the New Lanark Attraction Centre. Here you can go on the Annie McLeod Experience, a dark ride telling the story of New Lanark and visit the roof garden, a beautifully designed tribute to the heritage of New Lanark. You can also see our working historic spinning mule, now producing New Lanark luxury yarn!

DON'T MISS!

- The spectacular views from the Roof Garden viewing platform
- The cast iron features in the mill, which were designed to prevent fire spreading
- The spinning mule in action - you can buy the luxury yarn produced in our shop and online at www.newlanarkshop.co.uk

LIVING IN NEW LANARK

Robert Owen's House, Millworkers' House & Village Store

'Robert Owen's House' as it is known, was home to the New Lanark Mill Managers, and was often referred to as the 'Hoose with mair rooms than people!' Millworkers themselves would have shared one or two rooms per family and you can see examples from the 1830s & 1930s, along with a recreation of how the Village Store would have looked.

DON'T MISS!

- The 'set-in' and 'hurley' beds in the Millworkers' House
- The chance to buy old-fashioned sweets in the Village Store!
- Robert Owen's original desk, and books from his library

Eat, shop and stay

Why not visit our Mill Café, Mill One Bar or Mill One Restaurant for some delicious, locally sourced food.

The Mill Shop offers a superb range of contemporary gifts, books and Scottish produce. Taking centre stage is the New Lanark Wool & Textiles department which includes our traditionally produced luxury yarn and textile products. Finally if you still need more time to relax, why not stay overnight in the beautiful New Lanark Mill Hotel, Wee Row Hostel or The Waterhouses self catering apartments.

DON'T MISS!

- Victorian Afternoon Tea in the New Lanark Mill Hotel
- Picking up one of our creative knitting kits!
- The delectable dining experience in the Mill One Restaurant

DIVERSIFIED VIEWS OF A BEAUTIFUL COUNTRY

New Lanark Woodlands & The Falls of Clyde Wildlife Reserve

The spectacular scenery surrounding New Lanark has been attracting visitors, artists and writers since the 18th century. Corra Linn, Bonnington Linn, Dundaff Linn and Stonebyres Linn, collectively known as the Falls of Clyde, are some of the most spectacular falls in Scotland. They are now at the heart of the Falls of Clyde Wildlife Reserve, where you can see ancient natural woodland and a huge variety of Flora and Fauna.

DON'T MISS!

- Catching a glimpse of badgers, otters & our resident heron!
- The spectacular Falls of Clyde
- The meandering paths of the New Lanark Woodlands - designed by Robert Owen himself!
